Procedure

Tuition Structure

- Course-based Program Tuition: Course-based tuition is charged on a per credit hour basis as outlined in the tuition and fees tables.
- Project-based/Competency-based Program Tuition: Project-based/Competency-based tuition is charged on a flat-rate per semester basis as outlined in the tuition and fees tables.

Fee Structure

- A listing of fees and their current amounts is outlined in the tuition and fee tables.
- All fees are due upon assessment unless otherwise approved by the college.

Payment of Tuition and Fees

- Acceptable forms of payment include Visa, MasterCard, Discover, American Express, paper check, and Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT).
- Payment of tuition is due at time of registration unless the student has been approved to defer payment (see Deferments below).

- Payments received will be applied towards a student's current and outstanding tuition and fees.
- Outstanding payments for tuition and fees may result in registration and transcript release holds, removal from registered courses, and up to and including withdrawal from the college (see college's student code of conduct).

Payment Deferment and Discounts

- Students who are affiliated by employment or membership to organizations that have partnership agreements with American Sentinel College which include in the agreement the right to defer payment of tuition and fees are approved to register for courses without payment. In some cases, the college may approve a student not affiliated to a partner to use this option provided the student can provide necessary documentation that they have been approved for reimbursement. A promissory note may be requested which allows the college to charge the payment method provided after the course/semester has completed per the terms on the note. It is the student's responsibility to ensure they have met their organization's conditions for tuition reimbursement and that payment is received in full on the due date of the note.
- Students who have been approved to have a third party directly billed for tuition and fees may be approved to register for courses without payment. Examples include employer reimbursement paid directly to the college, military benefits including tuition assistance vouchers, and scholarship programs. Students must provide verification of the billing arrangement and this arrangement must be accepted by the college before deferment is allowed. The student is responsible for paying any amount remaining from refusal or inability of employer or third party to pay.
- Student using an in-house financing plan (monthly payment plan) may be approved to register upon satisfactorily completing requirements for setting up their plan. Requirements include resolving any previous balances on their account, making the minimum down payment required, and completing all required paperwork, including the retail installment contract and any required disclosures.
- Students who have been confirmed as using federal financial aid funds may register for courses without payment. The student is responsible for paying any amount remaining after financial aid funds have been disbursed or due to the return of financial aid funds for any reason.
- Tuition rate may be discounted for reasons including military status, affiliation with organizations that have partnerships with the college, and promotional discounts for well-defined groups for specific and bona fide purposes. It is the eligible student's responsibility to request the applicable discount. The college will not retroactively apply a discount.

Collection Agency/Credit Reporting

- Students who refuse or are unable to pay an outstanding past-due balance may have their account sent to a collection agency and/or reported to a credit bureau.

Resources for Communicating Tuition and Fees Information

- Tuition and fees are posted in American Sentinel College of Health Science catalog and website.
- Tuition and fees are subject to change with a 60-day notice to affected students.
